CONSULTANT NETWORK APPLICATION

Michigan Good Food Fund

Michigan Good Food Fund (MGFF) is a new public-private loan fund created to finance healthy food production, distribution, processing, and retail projects that benefit underserved communities across Michigan. It provides flexible, patient capital to good food enterprises often overlooked by traditional banks. Lending is bolstered by business assistance to help entrepreneurs grow their ventures and prepare for financing. Learn more about our goals: www.migoodfoodfund.org/about.

MGFF has a set of core partners charged with its implementation and coordination. Capital Impact Partners, a community development financial institution, manages the Fund and coordinates financial assistance. The Michigan State University Center for Regional Food Systems coordinates business assistance for production, processing, and aggregation/distribution businesses. Fair Food Network coordinates business assistance for small food entrepreneurs and food retail businesses. The W.K. Kellogg Foundation helped design the Fund and is its primary, private investor.

Building a Consultant Network

To advance its goals to strengthen the food economy, MGFF is building a wide network of preferred consultants throughout the state to provide business assistance to selected Michigan-based enterprises. Consultants are needed with expertise in a variety of areas including: financial management, business planning, food safety compliance, licensing, retail/grocery operations, logistics management, marketing, product packaging, and more!

Preferred consultants will help fuel entrepreneurship across Michigan while growing their businesses in a mutually beneficial partnership. As independent consultants, they will subcontract with MGFF core partners and provide designated services in alignment with Fund processes at a specified rate.
